All you need is love! mole - A film about love with their famous quote, the biggest thing you will ever learn will be just love and love Return. The film perfectly reflects how two people are not allowed to live with each other, until they take their last breath. It's probably the normal view of unexpected love that you'll do everything and anything to stay together. However, with 7,000,000,000 people on this planet, not everyone will have the same definition. Love is a very diverse term. Everyone needs it in some way or another, and therefore, everyone means 'love' for them is their own definition. Hikal, 12. Prempuran, my opinion, I'm advanruswan, love how much you have to say ' I love you' but you can prove it true how that is. It's about how patience and type you are, it's not involved boasting, it's not how arrogance and merciless you are. Love means accepting a person with all these failures, stoupadatis, and their failure. For example, love means there is no more busy world, it's always about priorities. You will always find the times that you feel most important about. So in consequence, I think love is a variety of different feelings; it's about accepting someone who they are and the emotions and whatever it takes from their forgiveness or their heart too. Joseph, 21. don't believe love at first look, take back on The Ta'aana. Attention at first look, yes. Love at first look, maybe. But love ? Love, me, is the same as the kalana companionship. And companionship is the basis of love. Respect, understanding, and encouragement are the pillars on which this foundation is built-not initial focus, not the initial idea. I think I, to a extent, just suffer from the impact of exposure, which comes with someone's preference or familiarity for someone. I had close friends with my girlfriend closed for seven years before going out, and I really understand that this friendship has worked as a great approach in the last two years. It also has a competition for my conflict: love gun is not segung that has started running, but nor does it feel like cross the finish line. Love is race-travel-yourself. The crich? Yes, like, but I think it's that the meta concept of 'love' cannot be limited to the place of the first session's cholesterolbook, and it's at first look to be overwhelmingdoubts over the idea of love. I respect but can't identify with the desire for 'one night standing' or 'wicked' or 'the wicked' hex, or whatever Longo is being used to show seemingly indifferent matters with an important (or not so important) day. It's not just in my personality to consider such physical conversations to be very different from emotional connections. Bulky, that love is static is not to say; it's an ever changing construction, named Manmanae and mostly blurred on its wells. For some people, love at first look can be both present and useful, and I'm totally fine with it. Actually, let me edit my opening statement: I don't For me at first look I love. Love exists outside the circle of human relationships but I think nuanced means its existence. I love enough, I love fresh air, and I love poetry, but I'm not in love with them. I'm in love with my girlfriend. Karsti, 23, is the santamantatoman of love the important element to love herself. Accept yourself and embrace your own parts that you don't necessarily like about yourself. It's an important lesson how to love someone other. If you love you, you may be more faithful with the love you give others. You feel more fulfilling and love more than you can possibly imagine. You will find you in love that you will smile at anyone you think. Love means seeing flaws and accepting them as positive attributes. You never knew you were lacking in the first place, and no matter how long you knew you would feel like coming home to you, you would feel a sense of perfection. The People of The World, 21. have a true love for something, some place, some theories or somebody and feel that recopagation is often considered as the ultimate obstacle on a path to the eutopia, 'an unrealistic place or condition of things where everything is perfect. 'If I had to use any human as easy, objector or really have the ability to love. Love can be described on me as you overcome with when you are a chin-up across one of these amazing green-oil size samples, one of a perfect scent, more than any you've found on the shelf before. So your umbrella is parisus through the delicate skin that will leave you two soft parts as you discover new limitations of not only encouraging your heart and mind constantly but also in continuing to find continuance and satisfaction. Along with a small fatty cheese, all spread over the best palm toss, and experienced in your own personal paradise, every bite extracts the emotions of anawanabalaty and superiority which is nothing in the world. I love the avocados. Sarah, 14, open mind and what is my love? Love is unconditional and cannot really be described in words. Of course, I haven't experienced it yet, but this is something I want to feel in my life. The best way you can really say this is, it's a feeling that you can't get a no-no matter how hard you work. Feeling you can never live without when you love this particular person or something. Realize their need and protect them. When you see this person love, and your heart agqrates, you get Govasiboom. Every time you touch them you have lightning radioting. You don't feel selfish with them and can't sacrifice anything if it means you can be with them for the rest of your life. This person is when you have no matter how happy you are feeling, no matter Sex, race or human beings. But love is not easy, it comes with results and sacrifices that are ready to know you have got something right. I know very few people who are really, profoundly, and madly in love with each other, and tells me every time that it gives me a piece of hope that actually there might be someone there for me. So this love is for me. How do you compete? Sharwan, 19, has experienced his love as the dog LoveEveryone has been loving or loved at a headpoint in their lives. It is an inevitable feeling in which the heart has to fully capture passion, affection, and desire. It comes in every kind of form like family, friends or with a fun love. In my experience, love feels so good but hurts so bad, I went through many wonderful memories of my life with women but in the end, it will either end a story or just like a crane ball is going to slog you at too much speed. My love is usually in animal kingdom. For millions of years our planet has such a wonderful creature and has proved to be a significant importance. Dogs are my favorite, especially of the pugs, golden retrievars, shih tz, and corgi! I have a pet dog that, in all honesty, feels like another little brother. Their presence is a remedy for the absence of a dissonant or tension. They will be through your top and bottom, clearly which defines the term, in which dogs are a man's best friend. They may be a little upset at the time when it comes to the home for the barking or the popang but hey they are not as distinguished as human beings have a sense. Marina, 20, classic and alcutita me, love is the most powerful thing on this planet. It can go crazy, feel every emotion you should feel together, it can make you sick, and it can also make you feel more alive than anything you can do. Whether it's self-loving or loving someone (or even loves an idea or a thing), it will make you feel bisam and you're unlimited. For me, I know that love is the biggest thing out there—without it, we're nothing. Something that is preventing you to get it, no matter what others say or what prevents you. It's glad that when you're feeling you can take and take it again, when you feel everything has gone to hell. To be Frank, it's dangerous to love, but it's a risk you should be ready to take. Love so deep it's overpowering you. Once you fall in love with someone or someone, you'll know it. Trust me on it. It may take time, but it will be worth it. You just need to find your star.
